The untimely death of Dharme Gowda has shocked the entire State. He rose up the ranks from gram panchayat, worked for decades in the cooperation sector and became Deputy Chairman of the Council. The police have also found a death note on him. This is a sad turn of events.

Chief Minister

I had told him not to occupy the chair in the Council without directions from the Chairman. But he was almost forced to take the chair on December 15. He later confided in me that he should have listened to my words and could have avoided all the humiliation.
