Accordingly,-

Private area of Apartment A = $100 + 20 + 10 = 130$ square metres

Private area of Apartment B = $120 + 30 = 150$ square metres

Total private area of all apartments = 280 square metres

If the total built-up portion of the common areas and facilities of the building is 140 square metres, say out of total common areas and facilities comprising 220 square meters (where 140 square meters is the built up common area and 80 square meter is non-built up common area). Also assume the land on which the approved project stands is 300 Square meters.

(a) the proportionate share of Apartment A in built up common area shall be,-

$130/280 \times 140 = 65$ square metres,

and the proportionate share of Apartment B shall be—

$150/280 \times 140 = 75$ square metres.

The Super Built-up Area of Apartment A shall therefore be 195 square metres (130 + 65), and the Super Built-up Area of Apartment B shall be 225 square metres (150 + 75).

(b) The proportionate share of Apartment A in the non-built up common area shall be,-

$$130/280 \times 80 = 37.14 \text{ square metres,}$$

and the proportionate share of Apartment B shall be,-

$$150/280 \times 80 = 42.86 \text{ square metres.}$$

(c) The proportionate undivided and non-exclusive share of each of the apartments in the land (300 Sq M land) on which the project or building stands shall be as follows,-

(i) The proportionate undivided and non-exclusive share of Apartment A in the land shall be = $130/280 \times 300 = 139.29$ square metres;

(ii) The proportionate undivided and non-exclusive share of Apartment B in the land shall be = $150/280 \times 300 = 160.71$ square metres.

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the apartment owner from carrying out internal alterations for such merger permitted under this Act, the bye-laws and the applicable zonal regulations and building bye-laws:

Provided that no such merger or alteration shall adversely affect the structural stability of the building, the use or enjoyment of the common areas and facilities by other apartment owners, or the building services and parking arrangements provided for the project.

8. Ownership of additional development rights.- (1) Any additional built-up area or development rights or development potential arising in respect of the land of the project due to any change in planning regulations, zoning regulations, floor space index (FSI), floor area ratio (FAR) or for any other reason shall belong collectively to the apartment owners and shall be distributed or utilised in proportion to the “private area” of each apartment to the total “private area” of all apartments in the project.

(2) No promoter or developer shall claim or retain any right over such additional built-up area or development rights or potential except to the extent of the undivided right, title and interest in the land appurtenant to any apartments remaining unsold, unless such right is expressly transferred by the apartment owners in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(4) The deed transferring the management of the common areas and facilities shall be registered under the Registration Act, 1908 (Central Act 16 of 1908).

A5	20	3	23
A6	5	3	8
A7	2	1	3
A8	1	1	2

TOTAL	100	20	120
